Re: UNLICENSED SIEMENS SOFTWARE

Siemens (Pty) Ltd is committed to ensure that Siemens software is used in conformance with our license terms and local and international copyright law.

Siemens makes extensive investments in the development of our software. Siemens has in recent months detected an increasing amount of counterfeit Siemens software that has been installed and used within various customers in Southern Africa. Consequently, these customers are infringing Siemens's Intellectual Property Rights. We protect this valuable technology under applicable laws because it has been developed over many years at considerable expense.

Our expectation is that all companies will want to be fully compliant and the use of unlicensed software will be against your company policy. To assist you with this process, the Siemens Digital Industries Factory Automation, Process Automation & Software teams are willing to conduct an audit of installed software to check these compliance regulations.

Please contact the local Siemens team if you have further enquiries.
